JK

Coming to us live from Copenhagen at the Hanso Foundation Headquarters. Good evening Mr McIntyre, thank you for taking the time to do this.

HM

It's my pleasure, good morning mr kimmel.

JK

Did you get a chance to see the big finale tonight?

HM

I assume you're talking about Lost

JK

No, I was actually talking about American Idol. No yeah, of course Lost. Do you watch Lost?

HM

I have seen it I think once and I found it extremely confusing

JK

You did okay. Well its interesting then because, why is it that you're running commercials during Lost?

HM

Well, the writers and producers of Lost have decided to attach themselves to our foundation and uh, actually it was our best way that we felt to communicate with those people who seem to have this belief that we have something to do with Lost...to let them know that it's not true.

JK

You have nothing to do with the program itself?

HM

No, we are a non-governmental organization. We have been established for 40 some years. Uh, we have projects all over the world. Uh, its very flattering that the Lost writers and producers have decided to attach themselves to us and use us as part of their mythology but its not true.

JK

What does the Hanso Foundation do? What is your role?

HM

Well we have 6 major projects around the world. The center of that is the WWPDP which is the Worldwide Wellness Prevention and Development Project. It is a non-governmental project just like many that is involved in um, projects in 3rd world countries working with both governmental organizations and private entities.

JK

What about the Dharma initiative? This is something that we hear about on Lost. What exactly is your involvement with the Dharma initiative?

HM

Well the Dharma Initiative was cancelled in 1987. We cut off its funding. We cut that project.

JK

So you're not involved in it.

HM

It was a real project but for some reason as I said before, the writers of Lost decided to attach themselves to us and create us as part of the mythology. Its just not true the way they are coloring the project...

JK

What was the project? What was the Dharma Initiative?

HM

Well frankly, because of proprietary interests with the technology, I can't talk about that specifically.

JK

What is Dharma? Is that a person's name like Dharma & Greg Dharma?

HM

I believe uhhh, that was Jenna Elfman.

JK

How do you guys make money at the Hanso Foundation?

HM

Well, we're very fortunate because unlike other NGOs who have to go through funding processes once or twice a year, we are the benefactor of a very wealthy man.

JK

Alvar Hanso. Where is he? He hasn't be seen for a few years true?

HM

Well, he is an extremely busy man. Has a lot of interests around the world. He has many homes of homes. Travels the world continually.

JK

Have you met him? Have you met Alvar?

HM

Well of course, yes.

JK

You also have an orangutan named Joop. He is 105 years old. This is from your website.

HM

Yes. He is part of our Life Extension Project.

JK

What is your Life Extension Project?

HM

Well the Life Extension Project has to do with developing technologies and medicines that can extend human life.

JK:

Is there any truth to the reports, you've seen savejoop.com, that the orangutan is being abused?

HM..

Well if you go to that actual website you will see that that is not Joop. Those are actually comedic videos. I don't know who created them. It seems that that person has created that website to sell Save Joop t-shirts. It has nothing to do with us.

JK

Your company...Does this have anything to do with why you built the hatches all over the island?

HM:

I assume your talking about the island in Lost? I don't know why they've done that...we don't...that's a creation of fiction...that show is a creation of fiction.

JK

Yes. You look nothing like actually the photograph that is on the website that has your name attached to it.

HM

That's true. Well, that photograph is actually the photograph of my predecessor and since I've come on to work for the foundation, one of my duties has been to upgrade the website and with that system created in the last month or so my webmaster put up a picture of the person who previously had my job.

JK

There is a woman named Persephone who has been hacking your website and putting things on your website...unusual things. Who is this person and why is she doing this?

HM

I dont know who she is and why she is doing this. Fortunately she is more mischievious than damaging although her acts are criminal.

JK

Why do you say her acts are criminal?

HM

Well you go in and you peruse peoples' personal things and put up things on a website that aren't true about people. She's defamed my colleagues. She's defamed myself. She's said things about my family all of which are untrue.

JK

There is a video of you that looks like you having some sort of a relationship with a woman who is not your wife...

HM

If you look closely that is not me...it is easy to lob pot shots from the darkness at somebody instead of standing in front of them making an accusations.. I mean clearly this person, whether it be a woman or a 10 year old is a criminal.

JK

Well thank you Mr. McIntyre. We appreciate you coming on. We know there's been a lot of secrecy with the Hanso Foundation.

HM

Well...no, no, no...we don't engage in secrecy. We're hear to be as clear and transparent as possible...
